THE CITY IN BRIEF.

NEWS AND BUSINESS.

Two Stories Higher.

Application is to be made at once for permission to build an addition of two stories to the building at the southwest corner of Fourth and Spring streets, making it a nine-story building. Plans for the improvement are being prepared by Architect Parkinson.

Crazy Wanderer.

A few days ago Constable Caud arrested a man near the railroad station at Pajaro who was wandering about aimlessly. Inquiries have resulted in identifying the man as Peter C. Anderson of Los Angeles, where he worked for the Pacific Electric Works. He has considerable money, but is apparently insane.

Miss to India.

Miss Elizabeth Dana Marble, daughter of J. M. C. Marble of Pasadena, yesterday received her appointment as a missionary to India, and will sail for her field on November 15. She is a member of the Southern California Foreign Mission Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

For Business School.

At the entertainment at Blanchard Hall this evening for the benefit of the Blum-Lafayette Industrial School there will be, besides the reading of "Aurora Leigh" by Mrs. Cary Blair McKim, an address by Dr. Walter Lindsay, selection by Miss Levine Virginia Kellam and Miss Gertrude Miller, vocal soloists and instrumental selections by Prof. Edwin H. Clark and Mrs. L. Brannan.

Reads into Trouble.

Michael Freeman, 14, and Willie Daly, 15 years old, two boys wanted in San Bernardino on a charge of stealing bicycles, were picked up on Alameda street yesterday afternoon just after they had finished the long ride from San Bernardino to Los Angeles. Freeman says he rode a wheel and carried his younger companion the entire distance on the handlebars. The boys deny guilt. They will be held pending the arrival of Sheriff Ralph of San Bernardino.

Class Call.

P. A. McFain, night engineer at the station of the San Pedro Electric Railway Company at Sunnyside, was painfully burned last evening while at work, by coming in contact with a live wire containing 220 volts. The current passing through his body threw him instantly to the floor. McFain was burned about the face and hands. The wire cutting deeply into the skin. While the shock was severe, the burns are not dangerous and the man will recover.

For Federal Building.

In anticipation of the preparation of drawings for the proposed new Federal building on the Broadway-Hayden site, the supervising architect of the site, the department has requested Postmaster Flint, the custodian of the government property in this city to call upon all Federal officials of Los Angeles to submit statements of their needs for the proposed building. The number of rooms necessary for each, and their size, will form the principal items. The receipts of the local postoffice for the month just passed were $2,767.36. The postoffice for October last year was $2,671.69, showing an increase for October, 1904, of $95.67, or 3.58 per cent.

A TRUE BUT A FEARFUL LESSON. [Tucson Star:] In his powerful speech the Courier quotes Marcus Aurelius Smith in his closing remarks as saying:

"I love Arizona; I came here as a struggling boy without a dollar and I am not a bit better off after a long fight."

These remarks were made by Mr. Smith in connection with his period of pathos, which make women weep, and well-to-do men inquire what does all this mean.

But Mr. Smith spoke the truth when he made the statement that he came to Arizona without a dollar. That is a fact. He was shortly thereafter elected District Attorney of Cochise county, which office he filled with distinction. He made a good record. This was about eighteen years ago.

Two years thereafter he was nominated and elected Delegate to Congress, in which the editor of the Star claimed the honor of nominating him and contributing largely to his campaign fund of that year.

For six years the Star was the most ardent supporter Mark Smith had and this without the cost of a cent to Mr. Smith.

Mr. Smith says he came to Arizona without a dollar in his pocket, and that he is not a bit better off now than then.

How comes this, Mr. Smith? Will you please explain to the citizenship of Arizona.

Have you given to charitable causes? To industrial enterprises which absorb your income? If so it has never been made public.

What has been the income of Mr. Smith during these eighteen years?

Let us make an estimate. His two years as District Attorney of Cochise county and his income as an attorney not less than $10,000.

Salary while twelve years in Congress at $2000 per year, $24,000.

Mileage as Congressman, at not less than $1000 per year, for twelve years, $12,000.

His private secretary allowance during time of twelve years at $200 per year, $2,400.

Total received from the government in these twelve years, $38,400.

Now this is a large sum of money. What has Mr. Smith done with it? Where has he ever invested a cent of it in any industrial enterprise or in any charitable benefactions? When or where?

That is not all. During Mr. Smith's term in Congress when he was interested part of the time in a law firm which brought in a steady income, fees as well as retainers amounting to not less than $25,000 during the period covered while in Congress. When out of Congress for four years it has been claimed his income from practice at his profession has not been less than $5000 per year, making $20,000 more; and this may be considered a low estimate.

The total income to Mr. Smith during the last eighteen years from all sources save mining sales make $138,400.

What has Mr. Smith, who came to Arizona eighteen years ago a poor boy, done with this $138,000? He says he is no better off now than when he came to Arizona. What has he done with the large sums of money in addition, received from sales of mines, etc.

He has not invested it in any industrial improvements in Arizona. He has not invested it in houses and lands or mines.

What has Mr. Smith done for himself or for Arizona with this nearly $140,000? If they fail to answer, then look at the man; once the picture of health, in form and striking personality, almost an Apollo, with the elasticity of an athlete, a mind as clear as crystal, a mentality of eloquent fire.

The answer, a physical wreck. His mind tottering, his step trembling, the hair on his head almost lost.

Mr. Smith has made an admission, which, when investigated, and the facts are brought out, are established to be true. But what is the conclusion then? Marcus A. Smith, on his own admission, is totally unfit for the responsibility of representing Arizona in Congress at this critical period of its history.

If he has so failed in the management of his own affairs is he fit to manage our public affairs? His residence, his condition has brought out in a fearful way, but who will deny the truth?

Here are the facts, what are the people going to do about it? The poor struggling boy after receiving an income of nearly or more than $120,000 without losing it in business transactions, and after having a poor struggling man who has passed the zenith of his life, strength and power of achievement, it is a fearful lesson.

ESTEY Pianos

One of the new Parlor models

You want the piano you purchase to have a full, rich, resonant tone that shall be permanent; a piano artistically cased, to harmonize with its surroundings; one from which you can get genuine and lasting satisfaction.

When you choose the reliable ESTEY PIANO you get all these requisites, and more, at a moderate price:

TWO SPECIAL ESTEYS

Walnut and Mahogany Cases.

A piano is like a violin—it improves with intelligent use. We have in our warehouses an Estey Piano used for some thirty to sixty days by Mr. Forrest Dabney Carr in his studio during his stay here. It is in absolutely perfect condition in every way.

We also have an Estey Piano which was loaned to a prominent family in the city for use until the Steinway piano, which they had ordered made, should arrive.

Either one of these pianos is good value at the original cost, but we shall offer them for sale at seventy-five dollars below their catalogue price.

If you are contemplating a piano purchase, this is your opportunity.

Election Wheels Started by the Supervisors.

First Ballot Supplies Sent Out Yesterday.

Twenty-five Thousand Dollar Bill for County.

Next Tuesday's election will cost the county of Los Angeles about $25,000. To give opportunity to put little ink crosses opposite candidates' names, few voters realize the hurry and bustle, the executive ability, the money, the graft orders, the clanking of wagons,

These are all 16x21 feet, and are rented on a contract from Hoopes for $5.50 a tent, which includes two tables, eight chairs and a torch with gasoline. Each precinct has eight officers, including clerks, judges, etc. Each officer is allowed $1 a day of eight hours at dawn, each officer is certain of two days' pay. With sufficient ingenuity they usually get into the third day. It would be a fair average to say that each city precinct costs $60 for election duty. There are 105 such. Clerk hire for election duty therefore costs over $2500 in the city alone.

The clerks have to use blanks and paper forms.

Here is the feature that makes election day expensive.

For months a force of clerks has been at work placing the names on the great register.

This work is done by an office crew of five or six men working at the Courthouse on salaries ranging from $75 to $90 a month; also by a force of outside men.

The bulk of the $7,000 or more voters were registered by these outside men, who get 5 cents a name—a total of $350.

The blanks for the affidavit which voters are required to sign at registration were printed at a cost of about $150 per thousand.

A book of instruction to voters and the whooping of horses that began yesterday.

A new army of enterprise was created.

It involves the expenditure of a small fortune, yet it is necessary to a host of clerks, experts and copyists; sets in motion a fairly big quartermaster's office.

It will be seen that the printing of the ballots will come to nearly $1000.

Each precinct is provided with an index to the great register, which contains the names of all the voters who are registered as living, within the bounds of that precinct. Printers were allowed 4 cents a name for printing these indices. This item alone runs to more than $4000.

The little packages of printed cards and things that Herwick takes out to the voting booths today will cost heavily.

THE PORTAGE BILL.

The postage on the sample ballots sent out to every voter has alone amounted to about $700.

By and by, it will all be over and Herwick will come totting the stuff back again to the county treasurer. Then John Davis will be distressed over his annual problem: what to do with the old index paper.

All the old ballots and the other election blanks that are left over, he cuts up and glues into pads, which save the county a great many dollars for scratch paper.

About this time the Board of Supervisors will begin the great work of canvassing the election returns. About ter's department which came into being between daylight and dark with wagon men, canvas men, like a circus, roustabouts and drivers.

The major dome of the whole works is old John Davis, janitor at the Courthouse.

Yesterday his men began the great work of the distribution of election supplies.

They rapidly ripped open and gutted old storerooms in the Courthouse until election booths were piled all over the Courthouse yard, making it look like the overflow meeting of a junk shop.

The distribution of these materials calls out one of the most interesting characters connected with the election—J. S. Herwick, the army veteran who has for years toiled the election supplies around the city in his express wagon.

He gets $15 for the work, bidding in competition with other expressmen. Supplies are sent to thirty-nine country precincts by Wells, Fargo & Co., who charge regular express rates, a heavy item.

HAULING OUT THE BOOTH.

Yesterday Herwick began hauling out, with the help of roustabouts, ballot boxes to 180 widely-separated election precincts, and 401 election booths. This brings up another expense. The booths and boxes are all owned by the county, but there has to be a place in which to put them—at a rental.

Quarters must be provided for 207 voting places in the country. The Supervisors allow $10 for rent in each case in the city and $2 in the country. For tent space, $2 is allowed.

About thirty precincts vote in tents,

THE BALLOT BOXES ARE ALL READY.

this time, also, it will be discovered that the county has paid back on the salary of a great many of the election officers.

There is the chummy things election officers do almost straight belief. They sometimes send in copies of the great index in the ballot envelope. They insist on sealing up or locking in the boxes the returns of the count, although told in his letters not to do so.

MILLIONS IN LEGAL FIGHT.

California Heirs to Contest Mrs. Reed's Will.

Too Much to Charity the Ground Taken.

Was Pasadena or Portland the Real Home?

In California a will that bequeaths millions of dollars to charity is the eyes of the law. And the will must have been made and witnessed at least thirty days before the testator's death.

Under this statute the firm of Bicknell, Gibson, Trask, Dunn & Crutcher is preparing to contest the will of the late Mrs. Annabella W. Reed, who died last May at her beautiful home in Pasadena, "Carmelita," leaving in the State of Oregon $200,000 in real property and $200,000 in personal property, and in California $250,000 in realty and $250,000 in personal wealth. In deference to the wish of her husband (who died some years before) Mrs. Reed in her will bequeathed $1,000,000 for the founding and maintenance of a manual training school in Portland, Or. She also gave $10,000 to Throop Polytechnic Institute, Pasadena; to her executor, Martin Winch of Portland, a personal legacy of $100,000, and a considerable number of smaller personal and charitable bequests too numerous to mention.

To the California heirs very little was left. This lack of remembrance did not follow, however, upon any coarseness or unbecomingness in her will. There was no such element enters into the proposed litigation, nor is there anything charged or to be charged in the nature of impaired mental powers, undue influence, etc. The battle to rectify this rich woman's will is to be one of law, pure and simple. The will was drawn by Cyrus Dolph of the Portland law firm of Simon & Dolph, and is not likely to be attacked in any particular by the Los Angeles attorneys other than the one described.

DISTINGUISHED CITIZEN.

S. G. Reed was an Oregonian pioneer and one of Portland's distinguished citizens for the greater part of a lifetime. He was an original stockholder in the wealthy Oregon Railway and Navigation Company, and added to his steadily-increasing fortunes by operations in lumber, real estate and other enterprises. His estate at the time of his death, which occurred some years ago, was valued at $1,000,000. He and his wife, Annabella, lived in their fine home in Portland and came to live in the balmy climate of Pasadena in the Crown of the Valley they built "Carmelita," at an outlay of more than $100,000, and it is claimed that the California heirs, settled down there with the full intention of making it their permanent home. They never sold their Portland home, but eventually it fell into the hands of real estate agents and is now occupied as a boarding-house.

During all his life he had been a patron of the mechanical arts; they had catered to his prosperity, and for that reason commercial reasons the crafts were held, in right in the heart of it. Butter is now being shipped into Los Angeles at the rate of 30,000 pounds per month. A value of $100,000 is created from the milk. Los Angeles is a favored shipping point, and while trade in dairy products has grown at an unexampled rate during the past twelve months, during the year is more experienced observers say it will far outstrip its past record.

Los Angeles county and the territory immediately adjacent, is not a large butter-making section. Although dairy farms and blooded cattle are to be found in considerable numbers, the annual growth of the town decreases that the milk and cream be used to supply immediate personal needs. As a result, but a comparatively small quantity of the home product finds its way to the churn. This condition will continue, say the milkmen, as the growth of the city keeps up with any attempt that is made to establish dairy farms upon a large scale.

San Diego county might almost be called the butter capital of the state, but the dairy industry there is not a favored industry there and there are seasons in which the city and country use every bit of the butter and cream that is produced. The dairy industry is not a favored industry there and there are seasons in which the city and country use every bit of the butter and cream that is produced.

Subjects of special interest are a discussion of the National Buttermakers' Convention, the proposed legislation on the misbranding of butter, and State or district executive exchanges.

There will be a competitive butter exhibit, a new set of officers will be chosen for the ensuing year, and the convention will close the night of December 1 with a banquet at Fresno's Hughes Hotel.

THRILLING RUNAWAY.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.—A thrilling runaway at La Jolla resulted in the injury of two persons and the death of the horse. A horse driven by Mr. Rannels became frightened at a point in the drive where the road skirts an ocean bluff. It is 200 feet abrupt fall to rocky beach below. The horse turned abruptly, threw Mr. and Mrs. Rannels out, landing them on the brink of the precipice, and the buggy was dragged over the precipitous form of Mrs. Rannels. The horse got free from the buggy, ran to the Santa Fe railroad crossing and into the cattle guard, where it was struck by the southbound train and killed. Mrs. Rannels was seriously and Mr. Rannels slightly injured.

It is apparent, then, that after all this legal fine and feathers there would still remain enough of the estate to satisfy the wishes of the testator. The school's pro rata proportion of the California one-third when added to the Oregon $250,000 that cannot be touched for distribution by California laws, would make a total of at least $1,000,000 to say nothing of interest accruing.

BUTTER MEN WILL CONVE.

THEY ARE TO MEET AT FRESNO EARLY NEXT MONTH.

This Convention Will be of Great Local Interest, as Los Angeles is Now Recognized as a Center for Production of the Butter Throughout the Entire Southwest.

A convention of special interest to Los Angeles will assemble at Fresno on December 1. It is the fifth annual gathering of the California Creamery Operators' Association, and butter men from North and South will swap shop talk and plan new surprises for the markets in a session which lasts two days.

Los Angeles feels a keen interest, because this city is now the recognized butter center of the State—and, in fact, of the whole Southwest. Dairy farms in our immediate vicinity do not create so much of the golden product, but Los Angeles is now the most concentrated center of the butter industry in the San Joaquin, rapidly forging to the front as one of the greatest butter producing localities known to the commission men, is tributary to Los Angeles.

EVENTS IN LOCAL SOCIETY.

A BEAUTIFUL bride was Miss May Daphne Hitchcock, who last evening was united in matrimony to Dr. Dudley M. Futed. The impressive ceremony took place at the home of the bride's parents, Dr. and Mrs. W. Hitchcock, of No. 2700 South Grand avenue, with Rev. Dr. Hugh K. Walker officiating. During the ceremony and before and after the wedding, pieces were rendered by Arent's Orchestra, which also furnished music for the reception which followed. The bride was a tower of greenery, the young couple spoke their vows. The bower was formed of airy strands of palms and the boy window of the back parlor, and on either side of the canopy were long curtains of the flimsy greenery. Gorgeous white chrysanthemums, peonies, and other flowers were placed in the bower. The bride and groom were seated in the bower, and the ceremony was performed. The bride wore a gown of white tulle, with a long train, and a crown of white flowers. The groom wore a tuxedo. The reception was held in the bower, and the bride and groom were surrounded by friends and relatives. The evening was a most successful one, and the bride and groom were most happy.

For Miss Hammond.
Miss Jane Campbell of West Twenty-third street will be hostess on Friday afternoon at an informal tea given in honor of Miss Edwina Hammond of San Francisco.

Red and White Dinner.
Mrs. A. J. Downs of No. 330 North Union avenue was hostess on Friday evening, entertaining in honor of her sister, Miss Marian Legia, and Mrs. R. L. Lillian, a cousin of the bride, who acted as maid of honor. The bride was Miss May Daphne Hitchcock, and the groom was Dr. Dudley M. Futed. The dinner was a most successful one, and the bride and groom were most happy.

Reception and Dinner.
There will be a reception and dinner at the First Congregational Church on Friday evening in honor of the pastors and choir. The dinner will be given by No. 5, section of the Bible school. During this reception the music will be furnished by the Sunday-school orchestra. A brief musical program will be presented, to which Harry Clifford, Mr. Stevens and Miss Kath. McKelvey will contribute. The reception will also be given by Miss Henrietta Deane. The reception is to be in charge of the Woman's Work Society, of which Mrs. Don A. Judd is president. Mrs. Hugh Harrison is chairman of the Reception Committee. During the reception music will be given. The two pastors of the church are Rev. Warren P. Day and Dr. William J. Morgan. Members of the choir are Mrs. Stevens, Mrs. C. E. Richards, Harry Clifford, and J. J. Holden.

Birthday Party.
Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hornaday entertained a few evenings ago with a birthday party in honor of their daughter, Miss Fannie's sixteenth birthday. The parlor, reception hall and dining-room, were decorated with flowers, ferns and pink crepe paper. Ropes of the paper extended from each corner to the center of the room, forming a pretty canopy, and here and there of the soft paper were artistically arranged with clusters of carnations and chrysanthemums. The evening was spent with music and games, and later refreshments were served in the dining-room. Those present were: Miss Norma Weidenbo, Mildred Tollett, Helen Gunther, Jessie Blatz, Genevieve Webb, Ethel Webb, Minnie Jael, Millie Jael, Christine Kline, Pannie Winslow, Margaret, Harry Hoffman, George Crawford, Harry Schenck, George Schenck, Howard Edwards, Seelye Schenck, Scott and Ira Winbigger.

At "Glen Holly."
Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. George will hold a reception Thursday evening at their home in Hollywood, "Glen Holly," in honor of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. George. Mrs. George will be assisted in receiving by Mrs. Beveridge, Mrs. Townshend, Mrs. Morgan.

Marsh-Metzner.
Miss Maude Metzner was married last evening to Fred P. Marsh, a prominent young business man of Phoenix, Ariz. The wedding, which was held at the home of the bride's parents, No. 1115 East Washington street, was a most successful one, and the bride and groom were most happy.

quiet affair with only the immediate relatives and friends present. The bride couple stood beneath a pretty canopy of green, from which a wedding bell of chrysanthemums and amaranth was pendant. Rev. Frederick Miller, pastor of Haven Methodist Church, performed the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Marsh will spend their honeymoon in Phoenix.

Receive on Friday.
Mrs. J. W. Campbell of New York City, who has been visiting in Los Angeles for the past few weeks, will receive her friends at the Hotel Westmore, No. 1000 West Seventh street, Friday afternoon from 2 until 5 o'clock.

Invitations issued.
Mr. and Mrs. William Atherton Hartwell, have issued invitations for the marriage of their daughter, Miss Zaldere Hartwell, and Arthur Van Norden, the ceremony to take place on Thursday evening, the 17th inst., at 8:30 o'clock, in Immanuel Presbyterian Church, with Rev. Dr. Hugh K. Walker officiating.

Make Home Here.
D. P. Corwin, formerly a railroad man of Pittsburgh, Pa., accompanied by his wife, have taken quarters at No. 2118 Figueroa street, while looking for a permanent home. Mr. Corwin was for twenty-five years after the war secretary and treasurer of one of the branch lines running out of Pittsburgh and belonging to the Pennsylvania Railroad. He also served in the military railroad corps during the rebellion. This is Mr. Corwin's fourth visit to Los Angeles.

Entertainers Informally.
Mrs. Lucie Mather entertained about thirty of the young people of Sierra Madre, parents of the groom, Miss M. Scott of Redlands and Charles Ulmer, Salt Lake City. The young couple met in Redlands, which is Mr. Bishop's home, about two years ago. Mrs. and Mr. Langdon with their daughter came out here to attend the capital. They will, however, make their home in Los Angeles, where the groom's business interests call him. Other guests were seated at small tables about the room.

For Miss Hammond.
Miss Jane Campbell of West Twenty-third street will be hostess on Friday afternoon at an informal tea given in honor of Miss Edwina Hammond of San Francisco.

Red and White Dinner.
Mrs. A. J. Downs of No. 330 North Union avenue was hostess on Friday evening, entertaining in honor of her sister, Miss Marian Legia, and Mrs. R. L. Lillian, a cousin of the bride, who acted as maid of honor. The bride was Miss May Daphne Hitchcock, and the groom was Dr. Dudley M. Futed. The dinner was a most successful one, and the bride and groom were most happy.

Reception and Dinner.
There will be a reception and dinner at the First Congregational Church on Friday evening in honor of the pastors and choir. The dinner will be given by No. 5, section of the Bible school. During this reception the music will be furnished by the Sunday-school orchestra. A brief musical program will be presented, to which Harry Clifford, Mr. Stevens and Miss Kath. McKelvey will contribute. The reception will also be given by Miss Henrietta Deane. The reception is to be in charge of the Woman's Work Society, of which Mrs. Don A. Judd is president. Mrs. Hugh Harrison is chairman of the Reception Committee. During the reception music will be given. The two pastors of the church are Rev. Warren P. Day and Dr. William J. Morgan. Members of the choir are Mrs. Stevens, Mrs. C. E. Richards, Harry Clifford, and J. J. Holden.

THE YOKE.

A Romance of the Days When the Lord Redeemed the Children of Israel from the Bondage of Egypt.

BY ELIZABETH MILLER.

(PUBLICATION IN THE TIMES MADE UNDER SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT WITH THE AUTHOR AND HER PUBLISHERS.)

CHAPTER XXIII.

The royal architect sat at his place in the workshop, but no rays of light shone from his eyes; his mind was elsewhere. He was not in the workshop, but in the past, in the days when he had been a slave in Egypt, and when he had been redeemed from the bondage of Egypt.

He was not in the workshop, but in the past, in the days when he had been a slave in Egypt, and when he had been redeemed from the bondage of Egypt.

He was not in the workshop, but in the past, in the days when he had been a slave in Egypt, and when he had been redeemed from the bondage of Egypt.

He was not in the workshop, but in the past, in the days when he had been a slave in Egypt, and when he had been redeemed from the bondage of Egypt.

He was not in the workshop, but in the past, in the days when he had been a slave in Egypt, and when he had been redeemed from the bondage of Egypt.

He was not in the workshop, but in the past, in the days when he had been a slave in Egypt, and when he had been redeemed from the bondage of Egypt.

SET AGOING.

They enter the returns everywhere except in the right place with an ingenuity that is astonishing in its various reaches.

The law which compels them to post the returns in a conspicuous place near the election booth does not compel them. Many of them don't obey.

They had been cautioned so many times not to forget to post the returns that they concentrated the whole force of their ingenuity on this one point.

Why didn't you send in your returns to headquarters? demanded the messenger.

Why, said the election officer, we didn't get them until this morning. They had been posted up the election returns in the tent.

To watch them counting the returns in the tent, the messenger demanded.

James Smith, no, James Smith, oh yes, I believe I will read.

The man talking with him, his nose on the ground, said: "Where is that name?"

The broken bluffs about Memphis, the temple, the obelisk, the sphinx, the pyramids, the great city of Memphis, the great city of Memphis.

He had reached that point where the end of the world was reached.

THE TRAITS.

The morning of the second day after the lifting of the darkness lay golden over Egypt, blue-shaded before the houses and trees to the west and shining and illusory toward the east.

A slow-moving, fragmentary cloud had gathered in the south just before dawn and for many minutes over the north.

Active Work Now in Progress on Irrigation Works in Widely Separated Localities—Work is in Charge of Expert and Practical Men of Mature Years and Experience.

News from Washington shows that the irrigation commission is now well organized and actively at work on the project of building a canal to the Colorado river, which will be a great benefit to the people of the state.
